

Armed Force Of Communists Takes Town On Bolivia Border

Rio De Janeiro, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Justice Ministry said today that Col. Joaquim Rondon, governor of the Brazilian frontier territory of Guayara, had informed it that Communist elements had captured the Bolivian border town of Guayara.

The governor's province is on the Bolivian frontier.

The ministry quoted Rondon as saying his information was based on a report to him from a Capt. Herman of the Bolivian army at the Bolivian frontier town of Guayara Mirim.

"Large, Well-armed Force"

Herman asserted that Communist elements of the "Pirista" party captured the Bolivian town and were holding the town authorities. The Pirista party is the Bolivian party of the revolutionary left.

Col. Rondon was quoted by the ministry as saying Brazilian border troops were moving up to safeguard communications between the captured town and the Bolivian capital of La Paz.

Capt. Herman was quoted as saying the capture of the town was effected by a "large, well-armed group."

WELCOME RAIN FALLS BUT MUCH MORE IS NEEDED

Gettysburg was treated to its first good rain since September 22 this morning when the clouds opened, and the town was drenched for a few hours.

But the rain this morning was far short of placing the community and the surrounding country back into the plus column for rainfall.

The last rain of any consequence occurred over a month ago when .12 of an inch fell on September 22. Prior to that a similar amount fell on September 16. Actually however there have been no really important rains since August. During September only .45 of an inch was recorded in Gettysburg.

Hunting Rule Stands

Cheered by rainfall were hunters who have been considering bleakly a cancelled season, and farmers who have been looking forward even more bleakly to the prospects for their winter wheat.

However the rainfall here did not lessen the firm conviction of the Department of Forests and Waters concerning closing of the hunting season. At least three days of soaking rain is needed, the department told the Associated Press, to end the threat of forest fires in Pennsylvania.

While the no-hunting ban extended into its second day, the five-day forecast, extending a day beyond the opening of the small game hunting season November 1, predicts only one-quarter of an inch of rain will fall in Pennsylvania for the remainder of the week, the Associated Press reported.

Armed Force Of Communists Takes Town On Bolivia Border

Rio De Janeiro, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Justice Ministry said today that Col. Joaquim Rondon, governor of the Brazilian frontier territory of Guapore, had informed it that Communist elements had captured the Bolivian border town of Guayara.

The governor's province is on the Bolivian frontier.

The ministry quoted Rondon as saying his information was based on a report to him from a Capt. Hernan of the Bolivian army at the Bolivian frontier town of Guayara Mirim.

"Large, Well-armed Force"

Hernan asserted that Communist elements of the "Pirista" party captured the Bolivian town and were holding the town authorities. The Pirista party is the Bolivian party of the revolutionary left.

Col. Rondon was quoted by the ministry as saying Brazilian border troops were moving up to safeguard communications between the captured town and the Bolivian capital of La Paz.

Capt. Hernan was quoted as saying the capture of the town was effected by a "large, well-armed group."

WELCOME RAIN FALLS BUT MUCH MORE IS NEEDED

Gettysburg was treated to its first good rain since September 22 this morning when the clouds opened and the town was drenched for a few hours.

But the rain this morning was far short of placing the community and the surrounding county back into the plus column for rainfall.

The last rain of any consequence occurred over a month ago when 12 of an inch fell on September 22. Prior to that a similar amount fell on September 16. Actually however there have been no really important rains since August. During September only .45 of an inch was recorded in Gettysburg.

Hunting Rule Stands

Cheered by rainfall were hunters who have been considering bleakly a cancelled season, and farmers who have been looking forward even more bleakly to the prospects for their winter wheat.

However the rainfall here did not lessen the firm conviction of the Department of Forests and Waters concerning closing of the hunting season. At least three days of soaking rain is needed, the department told the Associated Press, to end the threat of forest fires in Pennsylvania.

While the no-hunting ban extended into its second day, the five-day forecast, extending a day beyond the opening of the small game hunting season November 1, predicts only one-quarter of an inch of rain will fall in Pennsylvania for the remainder of the week, the Associated Press reported.

BULLETINS

Ketchikan, Alaska, Oct. 28 (AP)—Plagued by continuing bad weather, a steadily growing fleet of air and surface craft set out again today in search of a missing Pan American World Airways clipper—spurred by new unconfirmed reports of smoke and flares near the Alaskan-British Columbia border.

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—A Polish Peasant Party leader here said today that Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, wartime leader of Poland's government-in-exile, had reached Stockholm, Sweden, in his flight from his Communist-dominated homeland.

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—Winston Churchill called upon the British Labor government today to follow the lead of the United States in removing price controls and to toss aside Socialist planning which he said was holding up national economic recovery.

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—A second screen writer, Dalton Trumbo, refused today to tell a House un-American activities subcommittee whether he is a Communist, and the group voted to cite him for contempt.

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, commandant of the Marine Corps, announced today he has asked to be retired from active duty January 1, 1948. He said in a statement he is certain Secretary of the Navy Sullivan will grant the request, made by letter.

SAILOR'S BODY BEING BURIED IN CEMETERY HERE

A Scotland, Pa., sailor, S 2/c Samuel Ray Huston, who died on December 9, 1945, aboard the U. S. S. Conner off the China coast, will be the first of the World War II men killed in action and previously buried overseas to be interred in the National cemetery here.

The interment will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Seaman Huston is the first of a group of 91 sailors, soldiers and marines scheduled for burial here. Cemetery Superintendent Alvin Baker said today. After the group of 91 burials is held, a second group is scheduled until approximately 600 have been interred here.

First Services In China

Funeral services for Seaman Huston were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Lutheran church in Scotland.

The Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of the Memorial Lutheran church of Shippensburg, conducted the service. With the assistance of the Rev. Roderic N. Muff, pastor of the Fayetteville Lutheran parish.

Mr. Sammel conducted services for Seaman Huston at Christ church, Tsingtao, China. He was a Navy chaplain at the time. The body was buried at the Christian international cemetery on the outskirts of Tsingtao, according to Mr. Sammel, following simple military services.

Body Brought Home

The body arrived in the United States on October 10 aboard the U.S.A.T. Honda Knot, and was sent from Philadelphia to Shippensburg by train, arriving at that neighboring town at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening.

Born at Arnold, Seaman Huston attended school in Scotland and enlisted in the Navy on October 18, 1944 while a student at Chambersburg high school. He was 20 at the time of his death, which was caused by burns and asphyxiation following the explosion of a film aboard the destroyer.

Seaman Huston is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anna McWilliams, of Scotland, and by three brothers, James R., John L., and E. Lee Huston, who also served in the Navy during the war.

ASSISTANCE BD. GIVEN REPORTS ON CONFERENCE

"While one person out of every 14 in the U. S. is now 65 years of age or over, in 1980, according to present estimates, one person out of every seven will be over 65 and two thirds of the American population will be over 45," staff members of the county assistance board reported Monday afternoon to the board at its regular meeting.

The report was one of a number included to the board by Miss Grace Waltemyer, Mrs. Stanley Whitson and John Kendelhart of the recent Welfare conference held at Lancaster which was attended by all members of the local assistance staff.

Consider Resolutions

The local assistance board considered several resolutions passed by other assistance boards in the state recommending increases in assistance grants to meet the rising cost of living, and studied a form by which a person receiving assistance can set aside a certain amount, provided it is less than $300, for burial expenses, which will not be considered as one of the applicant's assets when granting assistance.

TO CHECK ON DOE PETITIONS

Sportsmen in this section who have petitions for the open doe season were asked today to have the petitions in the hands of either Elmer Dillman, Donald Hammers, or George Martin by Wednesday afternoon so that the papers may be taken to the meeting of the county federation of sportsmen's clubs to be held Wednesday evening at East Berlin.

At that session the county sportsmen's groups will determine just how many of the needed 2,500 signatures of hunters have been obtained in the drive to close the scheduled open doe season for Adams county.

With the total amounts available, the federation hopes to be able to put on a last minute drive to secure the remainder of the needed signatures by the end of this week.

The signatures on the petitions do not need to be accompanied by the hunting license number, heads of the federation have pointed out.

Truman Group Urges Outlawing Discrimination For Race, Creed

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—A committee appointed by President Truman proposed today that racial segregation be wiped out of American life "now."

Mr. Truman's committee on civil rights, headed by President Charles E. Wilson of the General Electric company, made 35 recommendations on explosive subjects in the whole civil rights field.

It urged the enactment of Federal anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, and fair employment practice laws—three issues which have torn Congress with bitter struggles.

It recommended that Congress and the state legislatures outlaw segregation and discrimination based on race, color, creed, or national origin, in such places as trains, buses, schools, hospitals, theaters, hotels, restaurants, and armed services, and private employment.

RIISING WINDS NEW THREAT IN MAINE BATTLE

Portland, Me., Oct. 27 (AP)—A forecast of rising winds augured fresh flare-ups today in New England's continuing battle against widespread forest fires that already have cost 20 lives and $22,000,000 damage.

For the first time in a week, the army of fire fighters held the line yesterday. "Under control" reports came from nearly all fire zones.

Meanwhile, Joseph A. P. Flynn, chief of Maine's state arson division, said it definitely had been established that three forest fires were set.

One Arsonist Held

He added that a juvenile had been committed to the State School for Boys for setting fires behind buildings in Wiscasset, and that a man was being held at Bath on charges of breaking and entering, larceny, and arson in connection with fires at a home and a woods patch. Bath police reported, however, that the arson charges against the man were dropped.

Maine, which had 13 deaths and $30,000,000 of the property loss, still was the prime danger spot.

Fires had blackened 100,000 of the state's 15 million forest acres. The blazes were spotted from the New Hampshire line to the Canadian border.

Besides 13 dead, there were 14 injured seriously enough to be in hospitals and 17 listed as missing by the Red Cross.

The Red Cross, in charge of relief work, also listed 2,500 homeless, another 2,500 displaced, 836 permanent homes and 229 summer places destroyed, another 169 permanent homes damaged.

Disaster Area

Suspicion that some of Maine's many fires had been set mounted to the point where "hundreds" in the estimate of York County Sheriff Everett S. Knight, went armed in that stricken area seeking alleged arsonists.

Knight called on these citizens, whom he called self-appointed vigilantes, to "put their guns away" lest some innocent person be killed or injured.

With the entire state a disaster area, by President Truman's proclamation, army planes began landing at Augusta, the capital with surplus war materials for both fire fighting and rehabilitation.

In all New England fire areas, Sunday sightseers were banned. State police, aided by National Guardsmen, patrolled roads.

Raffensperger Reports
Charles I. Raffensperger, new assistant county superintendent of schools, gave his first report on his visits to schools in the county.

He reported that there are 44 one-room and ten two-room schools in addition to grade and high schools in the county. There are 193 full-time teachers, three part-time music teachers and five school nurses, he said, a total of 201, compared with 208 last year.

Prof. Raffensperger told the school directors that he had visited 38 one-room, four two-room and one three-room schools in the past month.

"With few exceptions, the teachers are doing a splendid job," he said, "and pupils are showing an enthusiasm for their work."

"Nearly all buildings visited were in good condition and attractively decorated," he continued. "Most teachers and board members take pride in having attractive school rooms for their children."

In a few cases, Prof. Raffensperger said, he suggested that boards obtain smaller desks so that the smaller children's feet would reach the floor. Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., school board solicitor, suggested that seats might be purchased from closed schools. Eighteen one-room and one two-room schools were closed in the county this year, he reported.

Raffensperger said he had also suggested to schools that more supplementary materials, including seat work and additional reading books for the lower grades for several schools be obtained.

In five instances, he recommended that interiors of schools be repaired.

Approve Reports
The board approved the following reports:

Annual financial: Arendtsville, Arendtsville vocational, Butler, Franklin, Liberty and Oxford.
Auditors: Arendtsville, Arendtsville vocational, Butler and Oxford.
Budget: Butler, Fairfield, Menallen and Tyrone.

Transportation: Butler, Franklin, Highland and Huntingtown.
Summary of enumeration: Abbottstown, Berwick, Conewago, Conewago independent, Cumberland, East Berlin, Franklin, Hamilton, Hamilton, Highland, Latimore, Liberty, Mt. Joy, New Oxford, Union, Upper Adams jointure and York Springs.

The board approved the purchase of special education tests to cost $48.83.

The average daily membership reports of schools in the county were presented by Prof. Raffensperger, and Superintendent Slaybaugh warned that "several districts in the county have more teachers than they have reimbursement units." He said that several districts would lose money on reimbursements, which he said might total between $3,000 and $4,000. No action was taken, the matter being tabled until the next meeting, when it is probable that the board will petition the state department full reimbursement to avoid loss to schools which cannot change their status.

ASSISTANCE BD.

Waltemyer, and Mr. Kendelhart were authorized by the board to attend the annual meeting of the state Welfare conference in Pittsburgh November 18 to 22.

The case load analysis presented by the director, Mrs. Verna Myers, disclosed a drop of 16 in the old age assistance cases in the last year and a drop of four cases in the total types of assistance since last month.

In September there were 710 cases of all types of assistance while on October 1 there were 706 cases. The amount was an increase of 20 over last year when only 686 cases were recorded.

The old age case load shows a drop from 461 to 445 from last year on the comparable date. Blind pension has increased by 12 from 81 to 93 from October 1, 1946, to October 1, 1947; aid to dependent children by 13, from 90 to 103 and general assistance by 11 cases from 54 to 65. Compared with September 1, old age assistance was three cases less, a drop from 448 to 445, blind pension was the same, 93; aid to children the same, 103 and general assistance one less, 66 for September as compared to 65 for October.

Girl Scout Party Held

A Halloween party was held on Friday evening by the Girl Scouts of Intermediate Troop, No. 4, at the fire engine house. Prizes for costumes were presented to Patricia Spangler for the prettiest; Charolyn Groft for the funniest and to Suzanne Harner for the ugliest. The judges chose the prize winners during a grand march which began the festivities of the evening.

All arrangements for the party were made by the girls which included the program, decorations and games. Twenty members of the troop attended, including the leader, Miss Doris Legore, and Miss Mildred Appler and Miss Kathleen Mehrling, her assistants and the organization head, Mrs. Hilda Bish. The leader entertained with a vocal solo, "Shine on Harvest Moon." Dawn Pettyjohn played a piano solo and Phyllis Higinbotham acted in the role of a fortune teller. Refreshments were served.

The growth of the Aero Oil company during the past 18 years was outlined by President DeTar in introducing the various speakers.

McCreary termed the success of the Aero Oil company as due to "loyalty down as well as up. All companies ask their employees and dealers to be loyal to them, but few are as successful as the Aero Oil company in also giving loyalty down, from the president and the home office to the dealers and drivers."

While praising all of the employees of the company DeTar told the group that "much of our success is due to the drivers. They are the men who make the final contact, the men whose personality and skill is the basis for the company's success." More than 3,000 visited the new

MICHIGAN OUT OF TOP PLACE IN GRID POLL

By BOB GRUBB

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—Notre Dame still moving toward the top position as it moves toward the Nov. 2 meeting with Army, was back as No. 1 college football team of the country today on the basis of returns from the weekly Associated Press poll.

After giving the Irish second billing to Michigan for two weeks straight, the nation's sports writers voted Frank Leahy's men their old familiar first-place ranking and dropped the Wolverines to the runner-up position.

Notre Dame, choice of the writers as a top team of 1946, had started off in the same spot this year. The Irish slipped past Iowa 21-0 last week for their fourth straight victory and, still supposedly playing "under wraps," headed for Saturday's meeting with Navy.

Had Narrow Squeak

Michigan's narrow squeak in putting a 13-6 victory from Minnesota out of the fire apparently lowered the voters' estimation of the Wolverines.

Two new tenants appeared among the top ten, with southern Methodist and Duke supplying California and Illinois. SMU's Mustangs climbed from 12th to eighth on a 7-4 win over UCLA and now come face to face with Texas this Saturday to decide the southwest conference title. Duke's 13-6 conquest of Wake Forest moved the Blue Devils from 15th to 9th in preparation for their forthcoming clash with sixth-place Georgia Tech this week.

Pennsylvania's success over Navy showed the Quakers from eighth to fourth. Princeton, the foe which upset Penn last year, has a chance to knock down the Red and Blue rating on Saturday.

Unbeaten Penn State climbed from ninth to seventh off its 21-14 verdict over previously undefeated West Virginia.

Army, still smarting from the 21-20 setback by Columbia that ended the Cadets' non-losing streak after 32 games, tumbled from sixth place to 10th, just a notch ahead of Illinois, Saturday victim of Purdue.

Team standings with points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place voters in parentheses):

1. Notre Dame (78) 1734
2. Michigan (69) 1689
3. Texas (25) 1516
4. Pennsylvania (11) 1165
5. Southern California (6) 1123
6. Georgia Tech (2) 857
7. Penn State (2) 632
8. Southern Methodist 558
9. Duke (2) 552
10. Army 508
11. Illinois 206
12. Virginia 193
13. Kentucky 79
14. California 65
15. Wake Forest 61
16. Purdue 45
17. Louisiana State 35
18. Alabama 33
19. UCLA 28
20. Columbia 27

EASY WEEK FOR TEACHER TEAMS

Philadelphia, Oct. 28 (AP)—Only two of the leading contenders for the Pennsylvania Teacher college football crown will be in league action this coming week-end with neither expected to experience great difficulty.

Mansfield, with two league wins and one tie to date, meets Edinboro while Shippensburg, holding a record of four victories and one defeat, entertains Millersville.

Slippery Rock, currently leading the conference with three wins and no losses or ties, meets Grove City and West Chester. Slippery Rock's closest contender with two league wins, opposes Rider College of New Jersey.

Indiana tackles Clarion in the only other league game while California meets Salem (W. Va.) and Lock Haven takes on Alliance.

Slippery Rock was held to a scoreless deadlock last Saturday by Fairmount (W. Va.) Teachers' while West Chester was defeating East Stroudsburg 6-0.

Shippensburg eliminated Bloomsburg from title contention by winning 19-12 and Mansfield went outside of league competition to defeat Brockport (N.Y.) Teachers' 48-0.

In other week-end games Lock Haven was held to a 7-7 tie by Indiana. California defeated Clarion 28-7 and Kutztown and Millersville won non-conference games while Edinboro was dropping a non-league tilt.

Buffalo Bisons Get New Manager

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Big-jawed Roger Peckinpaugh was out today and lantern-jawed Paul Richards, the pepper-pot from Waxahachie, Texas, was in as the Buffalo Bisons of the International Baseball league got themselves their fourth general manager in six years.

The Bisons announced the shift last night through their attorney, Benjamin D. Reisman, after Peckinpaugh had said in Cleveland that Buffalo had refused to rehire him.

In taking over the helm at Buffalo, Richards assumes the dual role of field and office manager, a combo post which the economy-minded Bisons have in the past bestowed on such diamond worthies as Steve O'Neil and Bucky Harris.

Racing Enthusiast To Sell His Stable

Chicago, Oct. 28 (AP)—Twenty-two classy trotters and 18 show horses will go on the auction block today as Edward J. Baker, of suburban Northbrook, 79-year-old harness racing enthusiast for 30 years, bids farewell to the sulky sport.

The millionaire sportsman is disposing of his racing stable on advice of physicians. They urged him to give up the sport seven years ago, but Baker gradually drifted back. His associates said today that the veteran owner now has definitely decided to forget racing.

Baker will keep only three horses—Greyhound, the 15-year-old retired king of the trotters; Pearl Harbor, 6-year-old mare awaiting a foal; and Labrador, a 22-year-old former champion gelding.

CHANGE SOUGHT IN BONUS RULE ON YOUNGSTERS

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Philadelphia, Oct. 28 (AP)—Herb Pennock, general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, is going to see what can be done about changing the bonus rule at the major league's annual December meeting in New York.

Under the present rule, adopted at the 1946 conclave, a club is required to keep all players for whom they pay a bonus of $5,000 or more for signing.

The Phillies have two promising youngsters that come under the rule—Curt Simmons and Charlie Bicknell. Both are pitchers and they figured large in the Wilmington Blue Rocks drive to the play-off championship in the Class B Interstate league last season.

Simmons, a southpaw, was signed by the Phils in the spring after piloting a sensational strikeout record from Egypt, Pa., high school and in amateur circles. Bicknell, a right-hander, joined the Wilmington club from Plainfield, N. J.

Need Seasoning

While admitting that both Simmons and Bicknell are outstanding major league prospects Pennock said he believed it would be better if they had another year of seasoning in a Class A or AA circuit.

"But as it is we will have to keep both of them or let them go on waivers and we're not likely to let two such prospects get out of our hands that way," declared Pennock.

The Phils got two looks at Simmons last season—once as an opponent and the other time on their side. In an exhibition game before he put his name on a Philadelphia contract he struck out 11 of the major leaguers. Then in the final day of the season, pitching for the Phils, he whipped the New York Giants 5-2.

PENN STUDENTS ARE PENALIZED FOR PAINT JOB

Philadelphia, Oct. 28 (AP)—Ten University of Pennsylvania students who daubed the Princeton campus with red and blue paint have been penalized for the pre-football game incident.

President George William McClelland announced yesterday that all had been suspended for a week—beginning today—and placed on conduct probation for the remainder of the school year.

The action disqualified them from participation in intercollegiate athletics and barred them from holding any class or elective office.

The students were not named. Six were caught sneaking buildings and statues at Old Nassau the night of Oct. 21—and spent the next hour scrubbing it off with gasoline after being caught in the act. The others were involved in a foray Sunday night.

The Penn campus escaped a paint sneaking—but it was threatened. A group of about 15, with a five-gallon can of orange paint, appeared on the campus early yesterday but school guards surprised them before they had time to open the can.

Sports Roundup

BY RUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—One local football man who often knows what's what insists that Notre Dame not only will listen to bowl invitations this year if the situation is right but will abandon its effort to follow Big Nine rules unquestionably.

"I never got 'em anywhere," he says, "and why should they let someone else get that big dough from this bowl?"

Another observer, who does a lot of traveling to look over bowl prospects, maintains that Southern Methodist's Deak Walker is the best back he has seen all season.

NAMES IS NAMES

College scouts who hit New Kensington, Pa., report that the high school grid team has a Negro back who is really outstanding forward passer. His name (and what could be more appropriate) is Willie Throver.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Jaroslav Drobný, the Czech Davis cup tennis star, also is one of this country's best hockey players and Boston's Walter Brown, one of the few Americans who have seen him, thinks Drobný is good enough to rate a trial with a National Hockey league club.

Columbia's Lou Little now says that Bill Swartzki is as good a pass receiver as Don Hutson.

"He's not as fast as Hutson, but he always gets there when he does. He fights for the ball," Little maintains.

Brau Jack is in training again and manager Chick Wergles claims that the bad knee which forced the Beau out of the ring is entirely sound.

POINTS WITH PRIDE

In a recent game between Northern State Teachers' of Aberdeen, S. D., and South Dakota Mines, Northern kicked off for the second half and Cal Johnson, who did the kicking, recovered a free ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Mines received again and tried a lateral on their first play. End Sayne De Vries batted the ball into the end zone and fell on it for another touchdown.

It took just 42 seconds to rack up two scores and publisher Bill Daly wants to know if that's a record—and if not, why not?

Babe Ruth Given Brith Sholom Award

Philadelphia, Oct. 28 (AP)—Babe Ruth, the King of Swat and the hearts of a million American boys, has been given another honor to add to the many he already holds.

The Babe, apparently in better health than the last time he appeared in Philadelphia three months ago, was given the annual sports award of Brith Sholom, National Fraternal organization last night for "Outstanding contribution to American youth through his exemplary sportsmanship, fair play and notable achievements in the field of sports."

Ruth recently has been working with the American Legion baseball clubs.

National "Needled" By All-America

Los Angeles, Oct. 28 (AP)—Adm. Jonas Ingram, commissioner of the All-American football conference, has again paid his respects(?) to the rival National League.

"I'm going to needle the hell out of them until we get recognition and they agree to meet us in a playoff," the crusty commissioner told football writers here yesterday. "In the interests of better business and better competition, it's only common sense for the two leagues to get together."

"Besides," he added, "the people want to know which is the real champion." Then he pitched:

"Why, we have four teams in this league better than anything they have."

DRIVE AGAINST RACKETEERS IN BOXING OPENED

Pittsburgh, Oct. 28 (AP)—State Boxing Commissioner John Montgomery today began a campaign to drive racketeers and other undesirables out of boxing in Pennsylvania.

Montgomery said he would require all persons licensed in connection with boxing exhibitions to file new applications for licenses.

The new application forms, the commissioner said, will contain a space for fingerprints. These will be checked with the FBI, he added, and any person found with a criminal record will be denied a license.

"This will affect everyone licensed to take part in any way with boxing," said Montgomery, "but it particularly will apply to managers."

Manager Arrested

The boxing commissioner, former Allegheny county sheriff, was spurred into action yesterday by the arrest of William "Billy" Sarkis, 26, a fight manager, on a charge of felonious assault and battery.

Montgomery ordered Sarkis' license revoked. He had been co-manager of Charley "Young Zirc" ASIF, Pittsburgh middleweight, boxer.

Sarkis was held for a preliminary court hearing in the beating of David Johns, which police declared grew out of a numbers racket fight.

Johns is in Mercy hospital with a fractured skull, a broken nose and a broken jaw.

William J. O'Donnell, assistant district attorney of Allegheny county, said Sarkis served time in Western penitentiary for rape, following a conviction in 1935, and was placed on a year's probation and fined $250 last March on a plea of guilty to a numbers lottery charge.

Help The Parents

(By The Associated Press)

By KATHARINE F. LENROTH
Chief, U. S. Children's Bureau
Second of a Series

No manual was ever written that could make a person a good parent, if the "feeling" was not there. That is not to say, though, that parents cannot learn how to be better parents if given the opportunity. And, no one knows better than the parent how much about the job is "learned."

The Children's Bureau has good reason to know how eager parents are for information about the job of being a parent, for its "baby books" go out to thousands and tens of thousands of parents each year. More than 20,000,000 copies of "Infant Care" alone have been distributed since it was first published 34 years ago. "Your Child From One To Six" is a run-up-and-down of the books for parents likewise have remarkable publishing records.

Besides its major publications, the Children's Bureau distributes thousands of leaflets and folders on the many special problems parents encounter as they go along.

So do other agencies and organizations, both public and private. I am sure they all have the same heartening experience as they read over the mail. Some of the letters are obviously from people of education and background. Others written crudely on the ruled paper of school tablets are from people to whom writing a letter to the "government" is a matter of great importance.

Willing To Learn

Besides this vast information that goes out through government sources, there is the work of parent education that goes on daily through the press and radio. It all adds up to one thing: the willingness, and the eagerness, of parents to learn.

It leaves the question: Do communities meet parents half way in their desire to do what is best and right for their children? I am thinking, for instance, of how little in the way of a consultative service is provided for parents who come up against problems that they find beyond them. The parents may realize the young person is not getting along as he should. He does not make friends easily, for one thing. He tends to withdraw from the group. Or, his behavior takes just the opposite course. He may be over-aggressive and belligerent and repel people who might be his friends. Or, one's daughter may not be popular, and being popular matters a great deal to a growing girl.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Dedication of new U. C. Church:
On Saturday interesting dedicatory services in connection with the new church edifice of the United Brethren Congregation of this place were held. The exercises began with a song service at 9:45 in the morning,
led by Rev. A. R. Ayers, of Shippensburg.

At 10:15, the regular morning services were held. Bishop E. B. Kephart, D.D., of Annapolis, Pa., preached before a large audience. Rev. J. P.
Anthony, of Chambersburg, and Rev.
Geo. Glenn assisted in the morning services.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a platform meeting was held, with the audience taxing the seating capacity of the entire church. Interesting congratulatory addresses were made by Rev. Stock, Rev. Woods, Rev. Glenn, Rev. Alleman and Bishop Kephart.

An interesting song service was held in the evening, before the usual evening meeting which was to be the regular dedicatory occasion.
Bishop Kephart preached an eloquent sermon. Dr. Wolf, of the Theological Seminary, assisted in the evening services.

The entire cost of the new church,
including the site has been about $5,000, all of which has been raised except about $200.

This new church is a most desirable acquisition to our town, and Pastor Horn and his people are to be congratulated on their enterprise and self-sacrifice.

The new church stands on the lot on High street, formerly occupied by the United Presbyterian church, which was one of the earliest churches of this neighborhood.

The new church building erected under the supervision of Wm. H.
Johns, contractor, is a beautiful specimen of church architecture.

ny: Prof. Franklin Menges, Ph.D., formerly assistant professor of chemistry in Pennsylvania college, at present a faculty of the York high school faculty, was married on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Miss May R. McIlheny, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. William A. McIlheny, at the home of the bride in Straban township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. W. Woods, Jr., in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bridesmaids were Miss Nettie McIlheny and Miss Carrie Bell.
Messrs. William Menges and Morris T. Brown were the ushers. The bride's little sister, Ruth, was flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Menges will make their home in York.

Woods—Neely: A large audience assembled in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday morning to witness the marriage of the Rev.
D. W. Woods, Jr., pastor of the church, to Miss Mary C. Neely, daughter of the late J. C. Neely, Esq.
The Rev. Dr. Benjamin Sadler, of Baltimore, performed the ceremony. Mrs. S. D. Schmucker played the organ. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, S. S. Neely, Esq. S. S. Woods was the best man.

The bride was dressed in a traveling gown of dark brown and carried Marchal Neil roses. The ushers were Wm. P. Woods, L. P. Eisenhart, Charles M. McCurdy and Donald P.
McPherson.

Local Miscellany: A striking portrait by Chas. M. Young, of Dr. J.
W. C. O'Neal is now on exhibition,
in the window of Photographer W.
H. Tipton. It is an admirable likeness.

W. S. Dutera has presented the ladies at the telephone exchange with a handsome skin rug.

An additional proof of the valuable product of the apple crop in Adams county is shown in the yield of Mr. Samuel Bream's orchard in Butler township. He realized $1,600 from the crop.

lingering illness died at his home

the age of 61 years, 9 months and

SCENERY

During this season of Autumnal Glory we were privileged to spend a week-end at the home of the Bradley Kells, who have absorbed acreage in the Mark Twain country known as Redding, Conn. Never have I looked upon scenery so beautifully radiant with all the colorings of October. And to spice it all I was reminded of the great Mark Twain's observation, "Nothing improves scenery like ham and eggs!"

And so it was that upon the breaking of the sunshine the next morning, under the expert culinary artistry of Jerry Kelly we sat down to a delicious breakfast of ham and eggs (though it was bacon, but what's the slight difference?) and with the matchless scenery wrapping us all in its arms as we ate;
and outside, all about us, dogwood, maple, sumac, oak elm—and all their cousins, in unity, expressing the season's burst of beauty and celebration. A perfect Autumn day.
(But with friends it is always a perfect day).

All the time I kept thinking of America, with its homes—many of them humble and neat, yet hidden among the trees and hills—workers, and happy ones—enjoying the blessings of liberty and freedom in a land where no restrictions are placed upon thought and freedom of expression. All about us was historic ground, where intrepid men fought out the independence of America.
We passed through the country where old Gen. Putnam did his job, and noted the park in his honor.
And the story of Mark Twain came to us afresh, as we viewed the roads and scenery that he so much loved.

Winding through the matchless Connecticut country we became intoxicated with its beauty and the wonder of change that Nature presents. Then to the home of Bob (Believe It Or Not) Ripley, a host par excellence, for a sail in his unique Chinese Junk in Long Island Sound.
And the thought kept running through my mind, what is so rare
as a day in October?

From the windows of my own home I have watched each day, the changes of color in the trees that surround the place where I live.
Each day a new revelation, its brevity of beauty a challenge to my faith, as all spectacles of beauty are a challenge. Nature—not dying, but merely unloading itself—for rest and relaxation, in preparation for another budding and blooming Springtime. And all of it a continual scenery for the security of the soul!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Definite Things To Do."

MAN AT HOME

Man, at home, where all is shown up—Mood and habit, whim and feature.

All the dismal truth to own up—
Is a very simple creature.
By the slightest cross he's fretted.
Just a headache sets him
moaning.

He, at such times, must be petted
Or he'll never stop his groaning.

In his office, stern he may be,
Wise in every business dealing.
But, at home, he's still a baby;
Need of loving care revealing.

Put to bed when he is ailing,
Constantly he craves attention.
Fills the room with mournful
wailing.

Over pain no wife would
mention.

Man, at home, where sham is
ended
And his conduct is unham-
pered,

Must with tenderness be tended
And with loving care be pampered.

Never small the cares that fret
him.
Always great are his distresses.
How to keep him happy? Pet
him!

Show him with soft caresses!

SET STRAWBERRIES IN SPRING

Like many other farm and garden operations and practices, fall planting of strawberries has several advantages and disadvantages in comparison with spring planting. Therefore, an examination of these facts will help beginners and experienced growers alike in meeting problems of general culture as well as planting.

Of course, strawberry plants set early in the fall start making runners out in the next spring and this advantage is not at all questioned, especially in seasons when spring weather is backward and wet. But rarely do fall-set plants produce fruit the next spring, as beginners may easily believe. To obtain fruit
the following spring it is necessary to set plants out no later than August. In fact, the writer has recommended August planting of strawberries, particularly of vigorous runner plants, for gardeners starting small beds.

There are two main reasons why experienced commercial strawberry growers do not like the fall-planting idea in this and more northern latitudes: (1) Plants cost more; (2) Heavier and more careful winter mulching is necessary to avoid heavy losses.

The cost factor is not difficult to understand. Nurserymen must charge more for late fall plants because they suffer heavy losses or wastage in developing prime plants from runners of the previous summer. The home grower realizes this when he grows special plants in individual pots from promising runners.

Mulching for winter protection is, of course, practiced in this latitude, both to safeguard the tender

fruit buds and to prevent heaving from alternate freezes and thaws.
But growers who have experimented with fall planting know that heavier and more careful mulching is needed to avoid severe losses when a snowless winter follows with numerous mild periods occurring between freezing spells.

Condensing these general observations into a few rules of practice, strawberry growers should:

1. Prepare soil before winter for early spring planting, excepting lawn
where there is danger of surface erosion.

2. Start small garden beds in late August with vigorous runner plants.
But in addition set out garden plantings in early spring as a rule of safety and economy.

3. If healthy plants develop from runners in late summer, they may be shifted in late fall. However, it is doubtful that the additional costs of nursery-bought plants for late fall planting are justified.

4. In no case should protective mulches be placed early in the fall.
Mulching materials applied before late November in this latitude may prevent normal maturity and hardening of plant parts and thereby cause more harm than they accomplish in terms of benefits.

5. Late August planting of small garden beds is recommended chiefly because such plants develop earlier and more vigorous runners the following spring not because the grower obtains any large yield of fruit
the first season. As a rule, August-set plants seldom bear more than a half crop the next spring.

The early Greeks and Romans used ginger which they probably obtained from Arab traders.

Garden Activities For Late October

Continue planting tulips, daffodils, hyacinths and other spring-flowering bulbs.

The tops of phlox and peonies should be cut off and burned as soon as they are completely browned
by killing frosts.

Place a shovelful or two of coal ashes over the crown of delphinium plants to protect them against snails and slugs.

Gather and burn wormy fruits lying under trees to help prevent disease.

Sow outdoors hardy annuals as soon as possible where they are to bloom. Those suited to fall sowing include calendula, candytuft, esch-scholtzia, clarkia, calliopsis, godetia, larkspur, sweet sultan, annual chrysanthemum, sweet peas, sweet alyssum, portulaca and Centaurea cyanus.

Mulch lily-of-the-valley beds with well rotted manure, peat moss or leafmold.

Rose-planting time is approaching. Roses start making new roots as soon as planted, even though the upper part of the plants are dormant. If your garden schedule calls for roses, order the plants immediately and prepare the beds now.

Place orders for deciduous trees and shrubs. They may be planted until the ground freezes solidly.

GARDENS NEED NEW "TRIUMPH" DOUBLE TULIP

Double Triumph tulips are a recent introduction. In contrast to the double early tulips, which flower in April, this new type comes into bloom in May, so that it shares the season with the Darwins, cottage and breeders.

They differ from the early type also in height, as they grow from sixteen to twenty inches tall, with the magnificent double blooms carried upright on strong, sturdy stems well able to hold the heavy blooms erect even during stormy weather.

Although the color range is still restricted, there are two varieties which should be in every garden.

They are named Eros and Mt. Tacoma. Both are exceptionally large, with the fully developed flowers close to five inches in diameter. Just picture them in their globular form, with enough flower petals to make them fully double, yet by no means so full as to give them a crowded appearance. Gardeners actually have guessed them to be peonies when the blooms were shown to them

without any foliage.

Have Large Flowers

Eros comes into flower a few days ahead of Mt. Tacoma and is of a glorious peony-pink color. Like other tulips the flowers increase in size from the day they open until the petals fall, which covers a period of more than two weeks if the weather is not too hot.

Mt. Tacoma is a splendid campanion, and, if anything, is a trifle larger. The color is pure white and the arrangement of the individual petals resembles that of peonies so closely that any one not acquainted with it could well be excused for identifying it as a giant white peony
until the examination of the thick, fleshy stem betrays its real identity.

Tulip bulbs do better from late planting than practically any other of the so-called Dutch bulbs. As a general rule they are covered with four inches of fine soil if it is fairly heavy. In sandy soil six inches over the bulbs is preferred. Be sure that they have good drainage, because this is very important to success, and a position in full sun insures full opening of the flowers.

USE GARDEN STAKES AGAIN

Garden stakes are worth preserving for another season. Clean them well and give the lower end which will go into the ground a coat of asphalt paint.

MAINE GUARDS AGAINST NEW FIRE OUTBREAK

Portland, Me., Oct. 28 (AP)—Maine guarded today against resurgence of forest fires that have dealt the state its worst economic blow.

After two days of light winds, velocities of 15 to 18 miles an hour from the southwest were predicted by the weather bureau, which also forecast light showers in northern Maine.

Of 22 dead and $32,000,000 property loss from forest fires in the nation, Maine had 15 deaths and $30,000,000 damage.

Although all but one of the state's many fires were under control last night, co-chairman Edward A. Whitney of the Governor's emergency committee reported 20,000 fire fighters on vigil.

Start Rehabilitation
A new blaze raced through timberlands near the Machias river, in eastern Maine, but for the time being endangered only lumber camps on that stream.

Meanwhile a vast rehabilitation program gathered momentum and investigations of possible arson in some of the many fires continued.

Bar Harbor, low thirds ruined, expected to receive today 150 prefabricated metal houses, flown to Maine from Syracuse, N. Y.

First refugees permitted to return to the stricken resort town, which lost 330 year-round homes and 60 estates of wealthy summer people, expressed surprise that the damage was not even larger.

BUS DRIVERS SIGN

Pittsburgh, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Greyhound Bus lines and six locals of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach employees have signed a new contract, providing a wage raise of one-fifth of a cent or mile for drivers and eight cents an hour for maintenance and terminal employees.

XMAS GIFTS BURN

Philadelphia, Oct. 28 (AP)—Fire in the basement of the headquarters of the Philadelphia county council, American Legion, destroyed most of a $20,000 stock of Christmas gifts for 5,000 patients in nearby veteran hospitals. County Commander Patrick Long and Finance Officer Samuel Green said there was no insurance coverage.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Dedication of new C. B. Church:
On Saturday interesting dedicatory services in connection with the new church edifice of the United Brethren Congregation of this place were held. The exercises began with a song service at 9:45 in the morning, led by Rev. A. R. Ayers, of Shippensburg.

At 10:15, the regular morning services were held. Bishop E. B. Kephart, D.D., of Annapolis, Pa., presided before a large audience. Rev. J. P. Anthony, of Chambersburg, and Rev. Geo. Glenn assisted in the morning services.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a platform meeting was held, with the audience taxing the seating capacity of the entire church. Interesting congratulatory addresses were made by Rev. Stock, Rev. Woods, Rev. Glenn, Rev. Allemen and Bishop Kephart.

An interesting song service was held in the evening, before the usual evening meeting which was to be the regular dedicatory occasion. Bishop Kephart preached an eloquent sermon. Dr. Wolf, of the Theological Seminary, assisted in the evening services.

The entire cost of the new church, including the site has been about $5,000, all of which has been raised except about $200.

This new church is a most desirable acquisition to our town, and Pastor Horn and his people are to be congratulated on their enterprise and self-sacrifice.

The new church stands on the lot on High street, formerly occupied by the United Presbyterian church, which was one of the earliest churches of this neighborhood.

The new church building erected under the supervision of Wm. H. Johns, contractor, is a beautiful specimen of church architecture.

Wedding Bells: Menges—McIntirey: Prof. Franklin Menges, Ph.D., formerly assistant professor of chemistry in Pennsylvania college, at present a member of the York high school faculty, was married on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Miss May R. McIntirey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. McIntirey, at the home of the bride in Straban township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. Woods, Jr., in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends.
The bridesmaids were Miss Nettie McIntirey and Miss Carrie Ben. Messrs. William Menges and Morris T. Brown were the ushers. The bride's little sister, Ruth, was flower girl.
Mr. and Mrs. Menges will make their home in York.

Woods—Nerly: A large crowd assembled in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday morning to witness the marriage of the Rev. Dr. W. Woods, Jr., pastor of the church, to Miss May R. McIntirey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. McIntirey, at the home of the bride in Straban township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. Woods, Jr., in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends.
The bridesmaids were Miss Nettie McIntirey and Miss Carrie Ben. Messrs. William Menges and Morris T. Brown were the ushers. The bride's little sister, Ruth, was flower girl.
Mr. and Mrs. Menges will make their home in York.

Local Miscellaneous: A young girl, named Carl M. Young, in Dr. J. W. C. O'Neil's office in examination in the winter of 1946, married Wm. H. Johns, Jr., in the church at Straban.

W. S. Davies: A young girl, named Carl M. Young, in Dr. J. W. C. O'Neil's office in examination in the winter of 1946, married Wm. H. Johns, Jr., in the church at Straban.

SCENERY

During this season of Autumnal Glory we have privileged to spend a week-end at the home of the Bradley Kells, who have absorbed acreage in the Mark Train country known as Redding, Conn. Never have I looked upon scenery so beautifully radiant with all the colorings of October. And to spare it all I was reminded of the great Mark Train's observation, "Nothing improves scenery like ham and eggs."

And so it was that upon the breaking of the sunshine the next morning, under the expert culinary artistry of Jerry Kelly we sat down to a delicious breakfast; of ham and eggs (though it was bacon, but what's the slight difference?) and with the matchless scenery wrapping us all in its arms as we ate, and outside, all about us, dogwood, maple, sumac, oak elm—and all their cousins, in unity, expressing the season's burst of beauty and celebration. A perfect Autumn day. But with friends it is always a perfect day.

All the time I kept thinking of America, with its homes—many of them humble and neat, yet hidden among the trees and hills—workers, and happy ones—enjoying the blessings of liberty and freedom in a land where no restrictions are placed upon thought and freedom of expression. All about us was historic ground, where intrepid men fought out the independence of America. We passed through the country where old Gen. Putnam did his job and noted the park in his honor. And the story of Mark Train came to us afresh, as he viewed the roads and scenery that he so much loved.

Winding through the matchless Connecticut country we became incited with its beauty and the wonder of change that Nature presents. Then to the home of Bob & Berlie H. Or Not? Ripley, a host par excellence, for a sail in his unique Chinese Junk in Long Island Sound. And the thought kept running through my mind, what is so rare as a day in October?

From the windows of my own home I have watched each day the changes of color in the trees that surround the place where I live. Each day a new revelation, its brevity of beauty a challenge to my faith, as all spectacles of beauty are a challenge. Nature—Not dying, but merely unloading itself—for rest and relaxation, in preparation for another budding and blooming Springtime. And all of it a continual scenery for the security of the soul!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject, "Definite Things To Do."

MAN AT HOME

Man, at home, where all is shown up—

Mood and habit, whim and feature,

All the dismal truth to own up—

Is a very simple creature.

By the slightest cross he's fretted.

Just a headache sets him

meaning.

He, at such times, must be petted

Or he'll never stop his

grooming.

In his office, stern he may be.

Wise in every business dealing.

But, at home, he's still a baby:

Need of loving care revealing.

Put to bed when he is ailing.

Constantly he craves attention.

Fills the room with mournful

wailing.

Over pain no wife would

mention.

Man, at home, where sham is

ended.

And his conduct is unham-

pered.

Must with tenderness be tended

And with loving care be

pampered.

Never small the cares that fret

him.

Always great are his distresses.

How to keep him happy? Pet

him!

Show him with soft caresses!

Like many other farm and garden operations and practices, fall planting of strawberries has several advantages and disadvantages in comparison with spring plantings. Therefore, an examination of these facts will help beginners and experienced growers alike in meeting problems of general culture as well as planting.

Of course, strawberry runners set out in the fall start making runners early the next spring and this advantage is not at all questioned, especially in seasons when spring weather is backward and wet. But rarely do fall-set plants produce fruit the next spring, as beginners may easily believe. To obtain fruit the following spring it is necessary to set plants out no later than August. In fact, the writer has recommended August planting of strawberries, particularly of vigorous runner plants, for gardeners starting small beds.

There are two main reasons why experienced commercial strawberry growers do not like the fall-planting idea in this and more northern latitudes. (1) Plants cost more; (2) Heavier and more careful winter mulching is necessary to avoid heavy losses.

The cost factor is not difficult to understand. Nurserymen must charge more for late fall plants because they suffer heavy losses or wastage in developing prime plants from runners of the previous summer. The home grower realizes this when he grows special plants in individual pots from promising runners.

Mulching for winter protection is, of course, practiced in this latitude, both to safeguard the tender

Garden Activities For Late October

Continue planting tulips, narcissus, hyacinths and other spring-flowering bulbs.

The tops of phlox and peonies should be cut off and burned as soon as they are completely browned by killing frosts.

Place a shovelful or two of coal ashes over the crown of delphinium plants to protect them against snails and slugs.

Gather and burn wormy fruits lying under trees to help prevent disease.

Sow outdoors hardy annuals as soon as possible where they are to bloom. Those suited to fall sowing include calendula, candytuft, echinops, clarkia, calliopsis, godetia, larkspur, sweet alyssum, annual chrysanthemum, sweet peas, sweet alyssum, petunias and Centaurea cyanus.

Mulch fly-of-the-valley beds with well rotted manure, peat moss or leafmold.

Rose-planting time is approaching. Roses start making new roots as soon as planted, even though the upper part of the plants are dormant. If your garden schedule calls for roses order the plants immediately and prepare the beds now.

Place orders for deciduous trees and shrubs. They may be planted until the ground freezes solidly.

GARDENS NEED NEW "TRIUMPH"

DOUBLE TULIP

Double Triumph tulips are a recent introduction. In contrast to the double early tulips, which flower in April, this new type comes into bloom in May, so that it shares the season with the Darwins, cottage and breeders.

They differ from the early type also in height, as they grow from sixteen to twenty inches tall, with the magnificent double blooms carried upright on strong, sturdy stems well able to hold the heavy blooms erect even during stormy weather.

Although the color range is still restricted, there are two varieties which should be in every garden. They are named Eros and Mr. Tacoma.

Both are exceptionally large, with the fully developed flowers close to five inches in diameter. Just picture them in their globular form, with enough flower petals to make them fully double, yet by no means so full as to give them a crowded appearance. Gardeners actually have guessed them to be peonies when the blooms were shown to them without any foliage.

Have Large Flowers

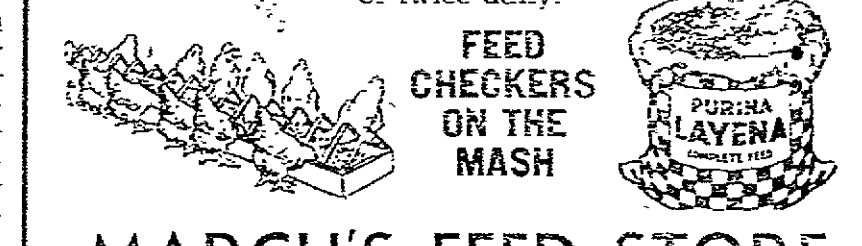

Eros comes into flower a few days ahead of Mr. Tacoma and is of a glorious peony-pink color. Like other tulips the flowers increase in size from the day they open until the petals fall, which covers a period of more than two weeks if the weather is not too hot.

Mr. Tacoma is a splendid companion, and, if anything, is a trifle larger. The color is pure white and the arrangement of the individual petals resembles that of peonies so closely that any one not acquainted with it could well be excused for identifying it as a giant white peony until the examination of the thick, fleshy stem betrays its real identity.

Tulip bulbs do better from late planting than practically any other of the so-called Dutch bulbs. As a general rule they are covered with four inches of fine soil if it is fairly heavy. In sandy soil six inches over the bulbs is preferred. Be sure that they have good drainage, because this is very important to success, and a position in full sun insures full opening of the flowers.

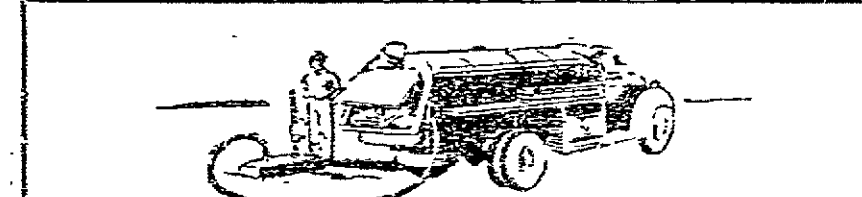

USE GARDEN STAKES AGAIN

Garden stakes are worth preserving for another season. Clean them well and give the lower end which will go into the ground a coat of asphalt paint.

White for a Shroud

By DON CAMERON

Chapter 17

The fury of the storm had passed altogether when Brant left Macfarlane's bedside, and a semblance of peace lay over the snow shrouded town. But in Brant's private world the chaos was only beginning.

Knowing John Macfarlane's reason for being tired of life was worse than not knowing had been. Then there had been the hope that the diagnosis would suggest the cure, but now Brant felt himself helpless. The strength of the sick man's attitude lay in the truth on which it was based, for Brant could not deny that Ella was the only woman he could imagine himself in love with. And it was in the interpretation Mac placed upon these facts, and in what he intended to do about them, that the situation became dreadful.

Brant's thoughts played traitorous tricks on him, even as he swore to himself that he would find a way to reverse Mac's decision. If Mac should die—in spite of all they could do to save him—he should have his way in this terrible matter. It was inevitable that Ella should become Mrs. Andrew Brant after a little lapse of time. There would be a final fulfillment of those fine dreams that had been born on the green campus at East Lansing.

He swore under his breath and tried to smother these indecent thoughts, but they had already set a blaze that heated his blood. The red-and-yellow sign of the Idle Hour Theater glewed ahead of him. He read the scarlet letters on the posters—Down Among the Dead Men—and wondered how many of the townfolks had gone there like Carol with the idea that fictional murder would rinse the taste of the real thing out of their mouths.

Then, as he passed the theater and came abreast of the Apex Grocery next door, he heard a grunting and a scuffling. Halting, he peered into the darkness of the tunnel that led to the door of the store, which was closed. His eyes made out a bulky shape bending over, swaying a trifle. There was another smaller shape beside the large one, more by intuition than recognition. Brant knew that the liquor-crazed Ella Nowka was in there and had been struggling with another person.

An instant later there was a gasp and a strangled voice crying, "Help!"—and the voice was Carol's. Grant moved without conscious thought, springing toward the tunnel, and Nowka lunged forth to meet him. Brant dodged a murderous sweep of Nowka's fist and drove his knuckles hard against the big fellow's chest and chin.

It was like punching a padded statue. Nowka paid no attention to the blows, but aimed a powerful one of his own that Brant failed to duck. It seemed to Brant that a pile-driver had rammed the side of his head.

There was no blackout. Total unconsciousness would have been preferable, however, to the paralysis that took possession of his body. He lay on his back, quivering in all his limbs, unable to move; but his mind was unfogged and his eyes missed nothing.

He saw Nowka come forward and lift a huge foot to smash it down in his face—a leather-booted foot that would leave him marred for the rest of his life if it did not kill him.

He saw Carol pulling at Nowka's arm, making no more impression than a gnat would make on a hippopotamus. He noticed the jagged tear from collar to skirt of her blue-and-white jacket.

He tried to close his eyes, and could not.

Suddenly there were shouts and running footsteps. Nowka's boot stamped down, but he was swinging inopportunely to face a new enemy and the heel missed Brant's cheek by the fraction of an inch. A deep familiar voice bellowed, "You're under arrest, Nowka!" and added a torrent of practiced profanity.

In Brant's vision flashed the broad figure of Sheriff Ed Worth and the gangling frame of Roy Saunders, his deputy. Nowka took one look at the revolver in Worth's hand and surrendered sullenly.

"Put the cuffs on him, Ray," Worth said. He looked at Carol. "You hurt?"

"N-no. I guess not. Andy came just in time."

"Been hunting him for two hours. Reckon it'll be a long time before he gets out of jail. . . Ray, is Andy knocked out?"

She said, "He took a terrible beating." She spoke from close beside Brant, being suddenly on her knees there. She had his head cradled in her arms against her breast, and she was saying, "Andy! Wake up, Andy. It's all right now. Oh, my darling, what did he do to you? Oh, Andy, my dear!"

Then her lips were against him, soft and frantic, and her tears were falling on his face as lightly as snowflakes, and he understood at last what she had been trying in a hundred ways to tell him.

SEES HANDS OF RUSSIANS IN KASHMIR CASE

 By DEWITT MACKENZIE
 (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

There is far more than meets the eye, we surmise, behind the official statement in New Delhi, India, that the famed state of Kashmir has abandoned its independence and joined the dominion of India because it needs aid to withstand the invasion of 2,000 Pathan tribesmen from the adjoining northwest frontier province, bent on raping, looting and murder.

The situation is exceedingly complicated, but well worth trying to untangle because of its great importance. The northwest frontier province has a Moslem population and is incorporated in the new Moslem dominion of Pakistan. There has been bitter feeling between Pakistan and Kashmir because, while most of the state's population is Moslem, it is ruled by a Hindu maharajah who has declined to join Pakistan. He refused to join the Hindu dominion of India, for that matter, and maintained an independent status until yesterday when Shiek Mohammed Abdullah, president of the National People's Party of Kashmir, declared that the invasion was an attempt to coerce the state into joining Pakistan, and the Maharajah announced:

"I have no option but to ask for help from the Indian (Hindu) dominion."

Sees Moscow's Hand

The clash between Moslem Pakistan and the Hindu Maharajah may explain the invasion by the Moslem Pathans. However, I don't believe that's the whole story. Having spent considerable time in northwest India, my thoughts instinctively jump to Afghanistan which is connected with India by the famous Khyber Pass through which Alexander and other conquerors of old descended into the Indian plain.

Now Afghanistan lies up against Soviet Russia on the north, and long has been much under Communist influence. Indeed, ever since the Bolsheviks came to power they have been trying to infiltrate India through Afghanistan, and at this delicate moment are reported to have a great number of "diplomatic" representatives in Kabul, Afghan capital.

Well, last summer when the British were organizing the two dominions of Pakistan and India, and were preparing to withdraw from the subcontinent, they received a note from Afghanistan. The Afghans—reportedly influenced by Moscow—claimed all the territory inhabited by the Pathans in northwest India, namely Baluchistan province and the northwest frontier province. Kabul insisted that these areas be given the right to decide by plebiscite whether they wanted to join Afghanistan or be independent. Britain declined the proposition.

Since then the Pathans—wild frontier tribesmen who live by killing and plunder—have been causing much trouble. True, they have been acting up for generations, and as far back as 1916 I rode with the British troops while they rounded up 600 of these chaps who were on the warpath near the Khyber.
